

Definition of Instructional Activities, Strategies, and Models

- Instructional activities: activities that have an effect on how classroom instruction is structured that require minimal professional development and technical assistance support and time.
- Strategy: an instructional practice that has teacher modeling behaviors expected to transfer into student behaviors requiring more professional development and technical assistance support and time.
- Multiple strategy or model: a complex set of teacher behaviors that are expected to transfer into student behaviors requiring maximum professional development and technical assistance support and time.

